

Painting Portfolio by Delpha Hudson 2020

I take a dark and humorous look at domesticity and care in women's lives. I conflate conventions, mix styles and make unexpected links with gesturing figures, cherubic babies with washing machines and televisions, in order to reinterpret our domestic, cultural and social relationships.

The tension, and ambivalence in mothering and caring roles is difficult to manifest and make visible and is rarely even talked about in Western ideal-critical culture but it is significant for women to share these issues; for their sense of self and mental health.

	Cartographies of care bitumen paint, gesso and oil colour on re-cycled canvas, 100x120xx5cm, 2020
	She wanted to swim through the broadest of lives bitumen paint and oil colour on canvas, 50x50xx5cm, 2020
	Above the rush of wind there is always tenderness bitumen paint and oil colour on canvas, 50x50xx5cm , 2020

	Hand, head, heart; the struggle for dignity and status bitumen paint and oil colour on canvas, 50x50x5cm , 2020
	A much needed perspective on anxiety bitumen paint, gesso and oil colour on canvas, 70x60x5cm, 2020
	The adoration of self-sacrifice bitumen paint, gesso and oil colour on canvas, 70x50x5cm, 2020
	Fragments of still time, when the children, play, cry, winge and honestly, honestly? You are somewhere else. Just anywhere else. And that's ok. bitumen and oil paint on canvas, 70x100x5cm, 2020

Please get in touch for prices, and to arrange and instalment plans: more information: delphahudson@gmail.com